Communicator 2.0

Complete Control at Your Fingertips

Munters' Communicator 2.0 is the next step up in farm control, providing an extensive alarm package along with remote access to your farm's controllers via the Web. The alarm package provides vital information to you and your staff regarding any event or problem that may arise on your farm. Along with providing crucial information, Communicator 2.0's alarm configuration and management software is feature-rich, yet simple to use. Delay times, number of repeated messages, daily tests, push notifications, messages, and voice mail are just a few of Communicator 2.0's many features.

In addition to the alarm package, Communicator 2.0 features a battery power backup system, guaranteeing service continuity in the event of a power outage. This essential feature ensures that you continue to receive alarms in any situation. The Web and Cloud-based technology enables simultaneous access to multiple users, along with different access levels (view only, partial access, full access, and administrator).

Communicator 2.0 has multiple communication pathways, including built-in Internet and phone connectivity as well as an optional cellular modem to ensure connection if Internet is not available. The desktop and smart phone application guarantee easy and user-friendly access to information, such as analytics, animal performance, and equipment status. A full diagnostic package aids users and technical support if any issues arise. Front panel LEDs facilitate simple troubleshooting.
